

SEARCY TRUCKING + OMNITRACS

ABOUT SEARCY TRUCKING

Searcy Trucking was founded in 1969 with $100, a single truck, and a commitment to service to their name. In the 50 years since, the Canadian-based company has earned business loyalty from customers, shippers, and staff alike, even expanding their hauling operation to the U.S. to suit customer needs.

Today, they are recognized as an industry leader in the transportation sector. They pride themselves on their experienced drivers, meticulous safety equipment, and innovative vision.

THE CHALLENGE

Searcy Trucking has always been driver centric. As an open-deck carrier, their trucks were always hot-targets for inspection. Although the company has always maintained compliance, this was still an added stress on drivers.

This unnecessary pressure, coupled with the strain on productivity that comes with long inspections, pushed Searcy's leaders to conduct thorough research for a solution that could resolve all their issues.

Bypassing weigh stations is more important than ever right now due to the need for social distancing and COVID-19. We don't want our drivers having to make unnecessary stops.

THE SOLUTION

With drivers experiencing inspections that were taking up to 1.5 hours away from time they could be spending on the road, the leaders at Searcy Trucking knew they needed to improve the driver experience, help drivers bypass weigh stations, and keep drivers safe from issues like bridge strikes.

After much extensive research, company leaders decided the best solution for them was Omnitracs Weigh Station Bypass powered by Drivewyze PreClear — a solution that can be easily implemented and includes safety alerts for drivers, much to their satisfaction.

It [Implementation] was a matter of turning on PreClear through Omnitracs. It didn't take long at all. I think of that now, since many of us are working from home due to COVID-19.
